Serving Bethel and neighboring communities in the mountains of western Maine

To brighten WinterFest memories — fire in the hole

Several hot air balloons provided a "photo op" Saturday evening on the grounds next to the Norway Savings Bank in Bethel. Balloonists lit the flames that inflate their craft in order for spectators to take pictures. Sunday morning, people turned out at the Bethel Airport to take early morning balloon flights. See photo, page 6. The balloons were one of the many Bethel WinterFest events that took place in the area last week.

Condor Military Operating Area

A-10 'Warthogs' fly away, enter F-15 'Eagles'

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A shift has occurred in the mix of military hardware winging over our heads.

But just what impact that change will have on the amount of noise residents of western Maine — or visitors here — hear from low-flying fighter jets is still unclear.

The change involves the 104th Fighter Wing of the Massachusetts Air National Guard, which has recently completed a conversion from A-10 "Warthogs" to F-15 "Eagles."

Those nicknames suggest the differences between the relatively slow, ground-hugging A-10 and the much faster, higher-flying F-15.

Major Matthew Mutti, of the 104th, describes the differences this way:

"The A-10 was an air-to-ground attack platform. Its primary mission was to provide close air support and provide combat search and rescue capabilities to the soldiers on the ground.

"The A-10 was designed around a primary cannon, which was designed to engage ground targets.

"The F-15 differs greatly. The F-15 is an air-dominance fighter which was designed around a large forward-facing radar which enables the pilot to see targets in the open sky from miles away. It flies very fast (Mach 1.8) versus the A-10 which flew very slow (.7 Mach).

"With those differences in missions, you can see how the training in each platform would differ greatly.

"The A-10's training (90 percent) was performed at lower altitudes, 5K feet and below, the F-15 (70 percent) is performed at above 12K feet.

"Occasionally the F-15 will practice tracking objects at lower altitudes and over the terrain, and thus requiring the Condor Air Space, but predominantly their training is performed over the water (Atlantic), where as the A-10 performed most if not all its training over the ground."

The "Condor" Mutti referred to is the Condor Military Operating Area, a restricted military operating area that overlies approximately 200 square miles of western Maine, with the Bethel area in its southwest corner.

Currently, military opera-

They come from diverse professions: building contractor, office manager, retired engineer, teacher and pilot.

But these and other Bethel area residents all love art. Many pursue it as a hobby, while others sell some of their pieces.

Their work is now featured on the walls of the Sunday River Brewing Co. in Bethel, another example of displaying local art in local businesses and other venues.

SRBC manager Jon Octera said the idea to display the artwork was born last year, after the restaurant featured local musicians as entertainment.

"It opened up my eyes to how much local talent there is in town," he said. "It sparked the idea for local artists to have their work in a high traffic spot."

Octera and fellow-manager Willow Andrews worked with local musician/artist Jewel Clark to collect work for display.

In December, the work of William Patrick, Alan Crane, Tony Andrews, Marvin Ouwinga, Troy Jordan, Gary Polonski, Seneca Corriveau and Clark was hung throughout the restaurant.

Their media included oil, acrylic water color, and pastel.

Two paintings, one by Jordan and one by Clark, have sold.

Many are not for sale.

Ouwinga, a retired Gould Academy teacher, has two seascapes paintings hanging on the walls.

He said the restaurant display adds another connection

NO CHANGE IN RESPONSE TIMES

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, Feb. 9, 2010 at 7 p.m. in the Crescent Park Elementary School Gymnasium voters will have the opportunity to discuss, debate, and, ultimately, decide the future of law enforcement services in Bethel.

Given the importance of this vote, the Selectmen convened a public hearing on Jan. 11 in order to get more information and to hear from citizens. I was asked to put together a short presentation on cost, current PD staff turn-over, and the Sheriff's proposal.

The hearing was well attended and the discussion was excellent. I felt there was, and continues to be, some confusion on one topic, however (perhaps it was not presented clearly enough): response time under the Sheriff's Office.

Under the proposal the Sheriff's Office will permanently assign deputies to Bethel. Those deputies will patrol the town in the same way that Bethel police officers patrol the town now.

This is not the same situation our more rural neighbors have, where the Sheriff is responsible for providing law enforcement, but citizens may have to wait for a deputy to arrive from another part of the county.

Under the dedicated coverage system if you have an emergency, you may have to wait for an officer from another part of Bethel.

In short, there will be no change in response times between the Bethel Police Department and dedicated Oxford County Sheriff's coverage.

WEST PARIS LIBRARY THANKS

To the Editor:

The Friends of the West Paris Library thank all who contributed to the Winter 2009 "Let Your Light Shine" fundraiser. On Dec. 15 the sparkling white lights outlining the library were lit and a big red heart in the window glowed. The night was cold, but hearts were warm with gratitude toward the many people and businesses that have made it possible to build a new library addition this year.

Lights were given in honor or in memory of family and friends, so that the new library addition will always give tribute to these special people, and also to the community spirit of the donors. These lights will remain to cheer the winter nights until Valentine's Day.

The addition is well on its way to completion. This would not be the case without the support of the West Paris community, school children, local contractors and businesses, as well as individuals and businesses from surrounding towns. This support comes in many ways: financial, giving of time and talent, encouragement, and faithful patron-ship.

The library plans to reopen on Saturday, Feb. 6, at 2 p.m. with a Grand Opening Celebration; the snow date is Feb. 7. The trustees and Friends of the Library invite you to come and celebrate with us.

Thank you all for your ongoing support.

NORDIC RACE, CLINIC THANKS

To the Editor:

On Jan. 24, the Bethel Nordic Ski Center co-hosted a Biathlon Clinic and Race with the Southern Maine Biathlon Club (SMBC). Thank you to the SMBC and all the participants and volunteers who helped to make the event on Sunday a success. Joel Hinshaw and his crew from SMBC did a fabulous job teaching skiers how to properly use Biathlon rifles and educating participants about Biathlon racing. Their expertise, organizational skills, and calm presence were invaluable in the success of this event.

Thank you to all the volunteers who contributed their time on Sunday; we had many responses from community members who were willing to help out and ensure that the event ran smoothly.

It was great to see so many skiers out there, many of whom were new to Biathlon. We hope to offer this event again next year and continue to create excitement about this sport.

BETHEL NEEDS TO HEAR YOUR VOICE

To the Editor:

For years, the town of Bethel has attempted to deal with the issue of providing police protection that is timely and effective. It seemed the only way to have an effective response to a domestic assault situation or a serious accident was to have a local police force on the spot immediately since having a county or state officer here sometimes took what many considered to be too much time. I have long supported this arrangement as the only practical approach to the situation.

Now we have before us, another option of a well-trained, professional force provided by the County Sheriff's Department dedicated to providing 24-hour protection for the town. The sheriff's department currently has a substation in the former National Forest building adjoining the cloverleaf on Route 2, which will provide more space for police functions. Officers will all be academically-trained with higher pay and better benefits than are currently being offered to the Bethel police force. In addition, another advantage is the professional back up that will be available to the town (such as detectives) that is currently absent from today's status.

I think we need to consider this option seriously as "a way forward" to improving our police services and giving us a more stable force reflecting the retention reputation that the current sheriff has enjoyed since assuming the post several years ago. If the decision is made to go with a contract with the county, any issues with the police force can be handled by the town manager communicating with Sheriff Gallant. In addition, in an era when every dollar must count for more, the cost of this option will be notably less than the amount we are currently paying.

So on Feb. 9, all Bethel voters are asked to consider this new option. My colleague on the Board of Selectmen, Don Bennett, is concerned that we will not have as good a representation of opinion as might be present at the annual meeting in June to decide this question. Since I think we need to decide this very important question now, I have gone "out on a limb" to say that I believe we will have a good turnout. In fact, I have bet him a dinner that we will. So come, listen to the discussion, and make your choice. Regardless of how the decision goes, the people of Bethel will have spoken and I and the rest of the Board will then know what course to follow.

QUESTIONS NEED TO BE ANSWERED

To the Editor:

Where do you go to get a gallon of milk? A couple of miles down the road to the closest store, or 30 minutes out of your way because it's cheaper? Most of us go to the closest store because it just makes sense.

Now, who do you call when you need an ambulance? Do you want the closest service you can get as soon as you can get it, or do you want to wait for 30 minutes for one further away because it's cheaper? Again, most of us would opt for closer right?

Now imagine you don't have that choice. As your loved one is lying unconscious, or in pain on the floor, you will have to wait 30 minutes, maybe more for an ambulance! Why? Because that's all there is.

This is a realistic possibility for the citizens of West Paris, Greenwood, Sumner, and Milton. There is no doubt that Tri Town Rescue is in financial turmoil, and is likely to close soon, but what can be done? A lot can be done.

The select board in West Paris is the lone holdout on a plan to merge Med Care and Tri Town Rescue, and keep an ambulance service based centrally to these towns for the citizens who need it. Maybe an ambulance based in Norway is acceptable to the people of West Paris; at least it seems to be the select board. So what about Sumner, Greenwood, and Milton? These towns are considerably further away from Norway than West Paris, and would undoubtedly be better served by an ambulance service based much closer.

I think it's important to have the right information before making such an important decision, so here are some questions I would encourage you to ask your select board, and your potential ambulance services:

- 1) Where will the ambulance be based?
- 2) Will the ambulance be committed to our area or be taken away to cover other towns?
- 3) How many towns do you cover, and how far are they from mine?
- 4) How soon can you get to "my" house from where you are based?
- 5) Will the ambulance be in our area 24 hours a day?
- 6) How many ambulances do you have to cover all these towns with?
- 7) What will happen if it's busy in another town you cover?
- 8) Will you have first responders until an ambulance can get to me?

These are all very critical questions that need to be answered, because time counts more than money in an emergency.

It is unfortunate that it has come down to the almighty dollar over the care of a sick or injured person.

You, the citizens of these towns still have time to make a difference, and get the care you deserve. Go to your town office, and demand to be informed. Ask the difficult questions. Demand answers. Make an informed decision. Your life is in your hands.

WILDERNESS LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

To the Editor:

Don't miss out on the opportunity to participate in the 2010 Maine Youth Wilderness Leadership Program sponsored by the Friends of Baxter State Park and funded by the Quimby Family Foundation.

We all began our association with Baxter State Park with an association with someone who had been before us or a tale told to us about Mount Katahdin or the wildlife they saw. Many of us began our journey to the park as a child and some as adults but the same result always seemed to happen. We couldn't get enough of the Baxter State Park experience.

It is that very experience that the Friends of Baxter State Park want to provide at no cost to high school sophomores and juniors.

The program is scheduled for August 7-15, 2010. Participants get to hike, canoe, sit around a campfire, hear a story or two and learn more about Maine's premier wilderness area from resource professionals and artists.

The key is to act quickly and complete the MYWLP application located at www.friendsofbaxter.org. The deadline is Feb. 15, 2010 and the application is very easy to fill out and can be e-mailed directly to the program coordinator at the following address: Jonathan Milne at maineoutdoors@gmail.com.

WINTERFEST THANKS

To the Editor:

Now that the 2010 Bethel WinterFest has come and gone, I can sincerely say that this has been a true community effort! A huge thanks is extended to Norway Savings Bank for their Presenting Sponsorship.

We had a fantastic first weekend with sunny skies, warm temps and thousands of visitors to the snow maze, ice skating rink, sliding hill and other area events. The untimely Monday rainstorm did some serious damage to our Festival Plaza — but our committed team of volunteers refused to give in.

New partnerships had to be developed in order to do the repairs needed, and we would like to thank Sunday River Resort for the use of their snowmaking fan gun, Pro Quip Equipment Rentals for the use of a compressor and generator, and Jim Bennett for the continued use of his equipment. Cross Excavation and the town of Bethel also helped with bringing snow in from the airport. Our on-site crew who worked diligently to make snow and repair the snow maze and hill were: Jim Bennett, Bob Westfall, Keith Hamil, Josh McAllister, David Walker, Rebecca Hastings, Jim Sysko, Al Sumner, Bud Kulik and Jim Sheibe. We owe them a huge debt of thanks for their hard work!

Several more restaurants stepped up to help us feed our hungry volunteers through the end of the construction phase: Kowloon Village, Funky Red Barn, Sudbury Inn, Rooster's Roadhouse, Bethel's Best, as well as the others mentioned in the last thank you letter.

The Thursday night Main Street Rail Jam, another first-time event for Bethel, was a huge success thanks to the hard work of many volunteers: Nate Clukey, Savage Contracting, Jim Bennett, Kevin Rosenberg, lots of unnamed, but appreciated shoveler; our road crew: Read Dickinson, Ellie Andrews, Colleen Files, Alison Aloisio, Steve Wight, Darlene Ginsberg, Hiram Towle, Joyce Roma, Karen Saito, Jonathan Goldberg, Carole and Richard Duplessis and Robin Bennett. Event sponsors were: Sudbury Inn, Home Slice Pizza, Hot Taco, Oakley, Ride 207, Pinnacle Snowboard Shop, Cho Sun, Ed and Amy Yasko and rail donors, Sunday River and Mt. Abram Resorts. Thanks also to the town of Bethel for allowing us to hold this event.

The weekend brought the hot air balloonists to Bethel and we'd like to thank those possible for this: Sponsor Allen's Coffee Brandy, Dead River Company for the propane; Good Food Store for the champagne and lodging donated by: Bethel Inn Resort, Hastings Suites, Victoria Inn, Perennial Inn, Wilderness House and Nordic Knoll. Several volunteers stepped up to help: Peggy Wight, Susan Isham, Lynne Ortega, Mike Steven, Ellie Andrews, Jonathan Goldberg, and Carol and John Emery.

Additional thanks to Amy and Kevin Marshall, Shirley Powell, Todd Conant and Carol Savage for their help on the Plaza this weekend and to Bennett Lumbering for the bonfire wood. If I left anyone out, I apologize.

We encourage everyone to continue to use and enjoy the snow maze, sliding hill and ice skating rink for the remainder of the winter. Please feel free to use the community skates and then return them to their storage spot when you are done for others to enjoy.

Happy winter everyone!

Fund set up for fire victims in Woodstock

By LESLIE DIXON, Sun Media Wire

Fundraising efforts have begun for an 8-year-old Woodstock Elementary School girl and her mother, whose house was destroyed by fire late Sunday night.

No one was home Sunday when fire leveled the home of Meredith Mink of 138 Old Country Road. Mink was with her daughter, a pupil at the school of about 80 students on Rumford Avenue just outside the village of Bryant Pond, visiting at Mink's parents' home in Bryant Pond over the weekend. The family's two kittens were also with them.

"It's a small town. They're very supportive. I'm sure everyone will jump right in," said school principal Jolene Littlehale of efforts that began Monday within the school.

The fundraising will continue later this week when the Parent Teacher Association meets and will discuss a more formal drive.

"The school PTA will meet Thursday night and we'll figure what to do," said Littlehale, who added that the association has an emergency fund it can draw from if necessary.

Fire Chief Jeff Inman said the fire began shortly before 10 p.m. Sunday in the small one-story, two-bedroom, wood-frame house.

Although access to the house, which is located on a main road between Route 26 and 219, was good, Inman said the cold and need to transport water to douse the fire presented problems for the firefighters who turned out from Woodstock, Greenwood, Bethel and West Paris.

"We had the usual water situation," said Inman of the need to pump water into tankers from the outlet of Bryant Pond. Although the temperature hovered around zero and water was freezing on the ground quickly, Inman said the highway department was at the scene immediately to sand the area. A PACE ambulance was also on the scene, but no injuries were reported.

"That's the most important thing," Inman said.

The chief said it took several hours to complete the work, which was hampered by the house's metal roof.

"It was holding the heat in. It was like cooking in a tin can," he said of the fire.

Firefighters also battled a noontime blaze Sunday that destroyed the wood shop of a West Paris retiree.

"We've got a tired crew," Inman said.

The state Fire Marshal's Office is investigating the cause of the accident, which is routine in Woodstock, Inman said.

Contributions for the Minks may be sent to: Woodstock PTA, c/o Woodstock Elementary School, 224 Rumford Ave., Bryant Pond, ME 04219.

Another Wight for selectman?

NEWRY—Gary Wight told selectmen Monday he is considering running for the seat of selectman that will be vacated by the retirement of Steve Wight. Gary Wight, who also serves as chief of the Newry Fire Department, asked the board if he would be able to continue to serve in that capacity if elected. Town Administrator Loretta Powers said she would consult the Maine Municipal Association for an opinion. Residents will vote for a new selectmen at the annual Town Meeting in March.

OCSWR seeks new agreement

WOODSTOCK—Steve Bies of the Oxford County Solid Waste and Recycling board Tuesday requested a warrant article for the March Town Meeting to approve a new 20-year agreement among the 18 member towns and OCSWR. He told Woodstock selectmen that towns approving the agreement would have a 12-month opt-out option: any town wishing to withdraw may give a 12-month notice. "All our towns have a lot invested there [at the Norway facility]. There's an awful lot of money in all that equipment. If for some reason the organization as a whole dissolved, all the assets would be sold and shared by the members remaining at the time. So early withdrawal from the organization, rather than a movement to dissolve it, is costly to the town that leaves it." Bies said he mentioned that scenario because of the possibility of towns leaving OCSWR to adopt single-sort recycling through another agency. Bies also said OCSWR member-town dues will go up 38 percent this year, but would have gone up more had not OCSWR saved money in better financial years to buffer poor years. In the past 15 months, he said, OCSWR had only been bringing in 15 to 20 percent of previous revenues, as the price paid for recyclables dropped.

BWD optimistic on grant funding

BETHEL—The Bethel Water District is optimistic it will receive approval for two grant/loan packages that could help fund infrastructure improvements in West Bethel, according to BWD board chair Brent Angevine. If the district receives approval for both, the board would choose one, he said. "We've been told we'll likely get both," he said. One grant would be available through the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, and would provide a 45 percent grant and 55 percent loan for the cost of the work. The loan would extend over 30 years at 3.5 percent, Angevine said. The second would come through the State Drinking Water Program as federal stimulus funding, he said. It would take the form of a 50 percent grant/50 percent loan, with the loan set at 0 percent for 20 years.

Testing for census

AREA—The U.S. Census Bureau is now taking applications for temporary employees to begin census work very soon. The pay is $14.50 per hour, plus 50 cents per mile. Hours are flexible, between 20 and 40 per week. Many census workers have other full- or part-time jobs. Paid local training is provided, and will soon begin in February. The work will last for several weeks. Local testing is being held: Mondays: 10:30 a.m. at Crescent Park School in Bethel; 1 p.m. at the Newry Town Office; 6 p.m. at Telstar High School, Room 113. Tuesdays: 9 a.m. at the Upton Town Office (by appointment); 2 p.m. at the old Andover Town Hall on Elm Street; 6 p.m. at University College at Rumford/Mexico, 13 Brown Street, Mexico. Wednesdays: 10 a.m. at the Roxbury Town Hall; also 1 p.m. in the Rumford Town Hall upstairs auditorium; 6 p.m. at the Bethel Library. Thursdays are at 11 a.m. at the Lincoln Plantation Town Office on Route 16 (by appointment) and 6 p.m. at the Hanover Town Office. Walk-ins are welcome, but you must bring the proper IDs — either a valid passport, or a driver's license and SS card, or a driver's license and raised birth certificate. Go to www.2010censusjobs.gov or call 1-866-861-2010 for more information or to schedule a test.

SOMETHING EXCELLENT AND EXTRAORDINARY ON MERRILL HILL

"While we try to teach our children all about life, our children teach us what life is all about" Angela Schmidt. Once upon a wonderland tucked away neatly in the heart of Sunday River there lies this magnificent 460-acre sweep of wonderland located on 'The Maine Atlas'. A place where Cross Country and Alpine Skiing, Robert Trent Jones, Jr. Golf and Sunday River meet in the Mountains of Western Maine as if lifted from the pages of an ancient storybook, it is a place thick with history, lore and legend. A place belonging to a bygone era and one that only a few families will have the honor to call home. This wondrous place, this uncrowded and unspoiled place, this last best place is called Merrill Hill. High trees of red, gold and green and a river so filled with magic that it was punctuated with an Artists Covered Bridge in 1872... A time machine that thrusts one back in time. On the heels of Sunday River's 50th Anniversary a good number of inquiries are from people that remember coming to Sunday River with their families when they were children much like the family pictured on Lollapalooza. Now Merrill Hill is setting a stage from which to create your family's most cherished memories, hallowed moments, these points of grace that release you from worldly cares and worries. In short, memories need a place to happen and ultimately only a few signature homes will be built in this wonderland where River, Ski Trails, Golf and Mountains meet. It is time for you to make your history here.

Merrill Hill sets the standards for Natural Elegance in the Heart of Sunday River with an environment so precious the streets are named for gemstones found in the region. Bridge which is 100 yards away on the other side of the camp-ground," he said in the application. "We will develop a rough woods trail round the perimeter of the island."

The trail would be approximately one mile long.

The bridge, known as a Burma Bridge, would be constructed of cable and supported by steel towers set on concrete footings.

Foot only

The two-foot-wide walkway would have aluminum (or similar) treads.

"It is designed for foot traffic only, so four-wheeled vehicles, snowmobiles, or even a riding mower will not be able to cross," Parsons wrote. "The intent once the construction is done is to allow the bridge and its infrastructure to blend into the surrounds as naturally as possible."

The island vegetation is comprised mostly of bushes, with scattered mature trees, Parsons said.

The bridge would have two parts. The first span would stretch approximately 250 feet to a tower on a small island. The second part would reach 150 feet to the main part of Hastings Island.

Together with the approach spans, the structure would measure 500 feet.

The bridge, said Parsons, would provide safer passage, particularly for young campers, who must now ford a shallow but fast-flowing section of the Androscoggin.

DEP has put out a notice saying that anyone requesting a public hearing or wishing to make comment during the process should contact its office in Portland.

If the project receives DEP approval, it is expected to come before the Bethel Planning Board in the spring.

Parsons said he hopes to start work on the bridge in late summer.

Trust

according to Brent Angevine, board chair.

But a modification to the trust has its skeptics, including a BWD trustee and the Mahoosuc Land Trust, who have stated their positions in writing.

Background

In 1925 William Bingham II gave 2,358 acres of watershed land, located in Newry, in trust to the BWD's predecessor, the Bethel Water Co.

To protect the water the trust restricted wood harvesting on the parcel.

But Bingham stipulated that if the land were ever abandoned as a source of water supply or ceased to be used as such, the title to land would pass to the state of Maine, "to be by it forever held, maintained and managed as a public game preserve, bird or game sanctuary, public park or State Forest reserve as said State may determine, and under such conditions as said State may prescribe and designate."

In 2007 a flood in the watershed filled the brook with tons of gravel, boulders, and trees, essentially destroying it as a source of water.

The BWD then installed a series of new drilled wells on the North Road. Those wells, independent of the watershed, currently supply water to BWD customers.

The question then arose whether the land should go to the state.

Current BWD trustees said last fall they wanted to keep the watershed as a backup source of water, if needed.

They also listed several other goals:

They said they wanted to modify the trust to allow more wood harvesting, in order to help fund infrastructure improvements.

They said they needed to work a 37-year-old land lease with Sunday River Ski Resort into the trust guidelines. Sunday River leases an 8.5 acre parcel at the top of the watershed.

They also said they favored modifying the trust to allow public access for trails and recreation.

The proposal prompted concerns among some local municipal and conservation officials.

Some were skeptical of the trustees' argument to keep the land as a backup water source, seeing that rationale instead as a means to hold on to it for logging.

Others were hesitant to modify the trust because, they said, it might set a precedent that would make landowners unwilling to put their faith in such trusts as a way to protect their land in the future.

Details of complaint

Last week a draft of the AG's complaint was sent to BWD superintendent Lucien Roberge.

The complaint draft alleges that the BWD is in violation of the trust because the land is not being used as a water supply; that the land lease to Sunday River is a violation; and that the trustees' proposed increase in timber harvesting for capital improvements would also be a violation.

"Among them will be the lease that the district entered into, allowing ski area activities to take place on the property in violation of the terms of the trust, as well as grant "such other and further relief as Justice requires, including application of the doctrine of cy pres or equitable deviation, if appropriate."

Last fall, State Rep. Jarrod Crockett (R-Bethel) told BWD trustees the AG's office believed the use of the land as a backup water supply would still qualify it for the use prescribed in the deed.

But he also said then that nothing on the status of the trust had been settled, because a court would have to consider the case.

Angevine said Tuesday the complaint's wording was what he had expected.

"That's what had to happen procedurally," he said.

Letter

The draft was accompanied by a letter dated Jan. 25 from Linda Conti, the chief of the AG's Consumer Protection Division. It reads in part:

"It is necessary for us to file a complaint so we can have the court review the trust document and determine which terms can be enforced and which terms should be modified due to changes in circumstances since the trust was created.

"Hopefully, this office will be able to reach an agreement with the district on how the outstanding issues should be resolved without resort to protracted litigation..."

"There are several issues that will need to be resolved in a proceeding to modify the terms of the trust.

"Among them will be the lease that the district entered into, allowing ski area activities to take place on the property in violation of the terms of the trust, as well as grant "such other and further relief

"At a minimum, the district should be prepared to provide assurances that there will be no further violations in the nature of leases for purposes not contemplated by the trust deed.

"Further, the property can no longer serve as a water supply, and therefore the deed provides for title to the property to pass to the state.

"This office, however, is willing to discuss with the district the option of asking the court to apply the doctrine of cy pres, an equitable doctrine which would allow title to the property to remain with the district, provided certain conditions are satisfied.

"Finally, because of the protective restrictions that Mr. Bingham placed in the deed, this office has some concerns regarding the extent to which impacts associated with unfettered multi-use public access would be consistent with the terms of the trust."

The letter does not specifically mention the proposal to expand wood harvesting.

Conti, contacted Tuesday and asked about the omission, said that harvesting "is an issue for discussion and will be addressed in this process. We will look to the deed language and to the cy pres doctrine to address it."

(Note: Cy pres by Merriam Webster dictionary definition is a rule providing for the interpretation of an instrument as nearly as possible to the intent, when literal construction is illegal, impracticable, or impossible.)

Angevine will go to Augusta Friday to discuss a possible agreement with the AG's office.

Change of heart

The three BWD trustees were initially unanimous in proposing modifications to the trust, but since then one, Mike Broderick, changed his mind. Broderick now opposes revising the trust "for short term financial gain," he said.

In a November letter to Town Manager Jim Doar, Broderick wrote: "It becomes more obvious to me that, in an earnest attempt to provide value to the rate payers, we have proposed, and gathered a supportive group of non-objective co-conspirators to help us rationalize the abomination, to trample our benefactor's wishes and vision of a perpetually protected slice of Western Maine for the sake of expediency and money..."

"Clearly Mr. Bingham had not chosen to provide the district with an ongoing revenue stream. That is what, and all, that our current path provides..."

"I believe we should stop the current plan of action and specifically mention the proposal to expand wood harvesting.

Conti, contacted Tuesday and asked about the omission, said that harvesting "is an issue for discussion and will be addressed in this process. We will look to the deed language and to the cy pres doctrine to address it."

Attorney General's office, stating the organization's position on the watershed issue. It reads, in part:

"MLT supports the Water District's interest in opening its watershed to the public for recreation and well-managed timber harvesting. However, we do not support changing the William Bingham deed of trust to accomplish this. Changing the deed of trust will set a precedent that could negatively impact future conservation projects in the area. Further, the deed as it stands is adequately flexible..."

"Over the last 25 years, Maine has invested considerable resources to acquire conservation land in the Mahoosuc region. Some of the state acquired conservation land is located within five miles of Mr. Bingham's land. There is no practical reason the state cannot accept the land and either hold it for one of the future purposes articulated."

The letter also states that because MLT receives funding from the Betterment Fund, established by Bingham, the board feels that MLT and other Bingham benefactors have a responsibility "to him, his vision and to the Betterment Fund to advocate for his legacy."

Landon Fake, chair of the Lands Committee of MLT, said Wednesday that his organization and BWD "are not that far apart on the watershed issues," and continue to communicate on them.

in a growing network of local artists.

"There are many of us in this community who like to paint in different mediums. Some of us take classes," he said, including ones offered through the Western Mountains Senior College.

"I never sell anything. I do it for fun. Most of us aren't going to get out there on the common (for the annual Bethel Art Fair), but we like it when someone takes notice. We're going to do it anyway, and if people like it, great."

Other examples of informal venues for local art include displays at Dream Realty in Newry and the annual Shy, Novice Closeted Art Show at the home of Janet Willie in Bethel.

New works on the way

The SRBC display is scheduled to change this month to a series of new artists. Octera said the plan is to rotate the art seasonally.

Clark said she's still looking for other artists to include, with an eye toward artwork done in schools. She also hopes to bring in the work of photographers.

"It's a project in evolution," she said.

Clark said Ouwinga made an apt observation on art in a restaurant setting: "It's a feast for the eyes."

Anyone interested in talking to Clark about displaying work may contact her at 824-2517.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

We went to the movies on Thursday evening and had a big surprise when we came out. While we watched the flick, Mother Nature sent a serious snow squall with lots of wind to these parts. We heard tell of cars off the road, etc., and there was certainly a lot of snow to wade through in the parking lot. We proceeded home on Route 2 very cautiously, because the going was slippery, and we did not want to be another statistic.

At the same time, the WinterFest Rail Jam was taking place on lower Main Street downtown. From all the talk we heard, it was great fun, both for participants and for the spectators, nasty weather to the contrary notwithstanding. In fact, all WinterFest activities went on pretty much as scheduled, with repairs having been made to the snow maze, the sliding hill, the skating rink, etc. Just goes to show ya, Mainers are tough!

Friday night Mike and I were watching a movie on DVD at home, when about part of the way through, the power went out. All afternoon the power had flicked out from time to time, but usually for only a few seconds before it came back on. This time, however, it was out nearly four hours. We lit some kerosene lamps, got out the headlamps for reading, then decided to declare bedtime about a half hour later. Of course, in the morning we had to re-set all the digital clocks, which is how we knew the duration of the outage.

Next morning some of the wind's work was immediately visible in our back yard, where a dead yellow birch we'd been meaning to have cut down had been put to rest by a strong gust. Martha and Kirk later helped us clear that away. There are also several large white pines littering our "nature trail."

along the brook, making passage impossible. A Sunday morning walk down the forest road revealed further casualties, with three or four large pines lying across the road at various spots, not to mention the debris of pine cones, needles, twigs, etc. There won't be much snowmobiling or skiing unless and until we get a lot more snow.

The Pleasant Valley Grange met last Thursday at the home of Rupert and Ina Grover. The Grange building on Route 2 is just too difficult to heat in the dead of winter, so Ina has kindly volunteered their home to be a surrogate Grange venue for the season. A goodly number of folks attended, bringing the usual delicious potluck offerings, and enjoying great camaraderie.

Last Saturday was the occasion of the Sassi Memorial Freestyle cross-country ski race at Black Mountain in Rumford. High schools from all over Maine participated, many of the skiers competing to qualify for the New England J2 championship race, which will take place in Jackson, N.H., the first weekend in March. There were young men and women from grades 9 through 12 racing, but it was the 14- and 15-year-olds who were in it for the J2 qualifier (20 boys and 20 girls from the state of Maine). By the way, Chisholm Ski Club is to be commended for creating great conditions on the race course.

The parking lot was crowded with 15 or 20 school buses, and the lodge was wall-to-wall teenagers in skinny ski suits. It was a beautiful, sunny day, albeit very cold (-13 degrees according to the Chisholm Ski Club), and it was exciting to watch the intrepid skiers do their 5 km (3 miles) rounds. Of course, we were there to watch our granddaughter, Molly Siegel, compete, and we were thrilled to see her come in ninth overall among 167 girls and second in her J2 category. Guess we'll have to go to Jackson.

Our weekend came to a very pleasant conclusion when we attended the matinee performance of "Visiting Mr. Green" at the Public Theatre in Lewiston. We saw Al and Jackie Cressy there, too, as well as Joanne Morse, another senior player, and her husband, Earl. The play was very well done, providing both laughter and tears, and social and ethical commentary. If you get a chance, do go. Performances tonight at 7 p.m., Friday and Saturday nights at 8 p.m., and Sunday matinee at 2 p.m.

Still looks like winter out there, and Groundhog Day was to have been sunny, so I guess winter won't be over for a while. Sure could use some snow, though. Stay well, stay warm, be in touch. dhoeh@megalink.net; 836-3011.

The area did not escape problems from the ice/rain/windstorm that came on Jan. 24 and 25. Roads were very slick until the temperatures got above freezing. One motor vehicle crash occurred on Main Street in Hanover. Police, Med-Care Ambulance and Rumford Fire Department responded and one injured person was transported to a hospital.

The heavy rains caused some street flooding and many basements got water in them. The winds toppled some trees but we heard no reports of power outages. Another big windstorm blew through the area last Thursday and Friday when temperatures returned to below zero.

How is your doggie? During January many dog owners who got past the end-of-the-year license deadline came to take advantage of the month of grace. It is too late now. Those who missed the Jan. 31 deadline will now be obliged to pay a $15 late fee on top of regular fees. Animal Control Officer Ozzie Hart was in Hanover recently investigating reports of a vicious dog.

The property owners in the Hanover Pines subdivision have formed a property owners' association. A contractor has been hired to do winter maintenance on roads.

Joan Tucker is leaving her Hanover home. Joan has been in Hanover for a few years after selling her Rumford Corner home where she raised her family. While in Hanover she has been a trustee at Gardner Roberts Memorial Library and served on the Hanover Appeals Board. Joan also took special care of the flowers and grounds around the Town Office. All her Hanover friends and neighbors will miss her as she moves to her childhood hometown of Norway.

Gilead

It was nice to have the wind go away after all the problems it caused this past Friday and Saturday. We woke up at 5:30 a.m. on Friday to no power and it was off for about two hours. Later in the morning the power was out for another couple of hours and then again for several hours in the evening. Saturday morning started out the same way. After a few hours, the power came on and the wind died down so that was the end of it for this time anyway. All the outages were on the North Road and were due to broken branches. The power for the town of Gilead comes up the North Road.

My brother, Steve McLain, has no news to report for this week's column. Maybe next week!

The Democratic Caucus was held at the Town Office this past Sunday. There was a small turnout.

I saw Joe Boudreau this past weekend and he told me that he had just become a great-grandfather for the first time. The new great-grandson's name is Liam Gabriel Seminoff.

from Yarmouth were in town last Friday. Since he is the new treasurer for the Gilead Historical Society, he had to meet with Bill Tout to pick up all the paperwork. Many thanks to Bill for serving as the treasurer since the GHS began in 2004.

Hugh and I met with Howard and "Stevie" Reiche last Saturday at Market Square Restaurant in South Paris. We had to pick up some materials for the Gilead Historical Society from them.

Today, Feb. 1, is windy, wild and cold. Waiting to see if the groundhog sees his shadow tomorrow.

The first meeting of Upton's historical society was well attended. They will hold another meeting this month to continue their work and maybe hold an election of officers for the organization.

I will be happy to use my column to announce the name and platform of any candidate hoping to be elected at March's Town Meeting — for any of the vacant positions. E-mail me at lauriebrown400@gmail.com if you'd like voters to have the chance to know you're running and why.

Ernest, a little birdie told me that there would be homemade donuts at the Ladies Aid breakfast on Feb. 7. (8 to 11 a.m.).

There's a road (and a dam) between Route 26 and East B Hill. Since I was a kid, I thought it was spelled like the tree — Poplar. My Maine Atlas spells it "Popla" and the snowmobile trail signs spell it "Popple." Do you know any other spellings? Do you know what it was "back in the day"? Has it remained the same?

Thanks for any info you can give me. I haven't been successful looking it up on the Internet.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello Andover friends. We lost our power last Friday during the heavy windstorm.

A couple of large trees were down by Carol Morton's, and also around the square by the Freeman's, so needless to say there was no way out except going up to Upton! I was just getting ready for work at about 1 when it went out. I made it down the road, so the trees must have come down after that. When I arrived back home a little after midnight, my trustee friend from CMP said the power would be on in about 30 minutes, and he was right-on to the minute! They were still down the road working!

I wish I knew his name; he comes in the store when he's in the area (we usually kid around about me being famous — a.k.a. Bethel Citizen!)

I would like to send my condolences to the family of Robert Swain, of East Andover, who passed away on Saturday, Jan. 30. Robert moved to East Andover when he was 2 years old, marrying, raising his family, working at his father's dowel mill. He left in 1942 to enlist in the Army Air Corps. In later years was proud to have attended, along with his late wife, Violet, 15 reunions of his World War II squadron, including the final one in Texas in 2006. Robert is survived by their three sons, Robert J. II and wife Kay of Lexington, Ky., Rodney of Vermont, and Ross B. and fiancee Christine Greenleaf of Roxbury Pond; Also six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services with Military Honors will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 6, at the First Congregational Church in Andover.

Hard to believe that its February already; the days are longer which is nice. Now we need some snow!

Happy birthday this week to Ashley Hall on Feb. 9.

Next weekend, Feb. 13, is the annual ice-fishing derby at Roxbury Pond.

Enjoy the weekend!

by Sylvia Harrington

My friend Susan Kilduff from Salisbury, Mass., arrived Friday afternoon. We had much to catch up on so decided not to go out for supper and dined at home.

On Saturday, after lunching at home with Mark; a treat of Susan's from Isabella's, we headed off to Marden's in Rumford. Susan had never shopped at a Marden's store and bought a few tool-type things to take home to her husband, Fran. During the evening we watched a movie on TV, which we both enjoyed, while doing a bit of knitting, chatting and eating sweets.

I was sorry to see her leave on Sunday morning, as there was still much we had hoped to do; such as driving out to Sunday River, having a crepe at the Cabana and then a drive for a visit with Sandee Dunn. I am hoping Susan will be back again this winter to do the things we missed. I do think when she does we will go to Marden's again — don't tell daddy!

At the Bear River Trading Post live bait for fishing is now on hand. They are also selling raw milk from the cows of Phil Bailey of Andover. Gas, coffee and snacks along with gloves and warm outdoor wear is also being sold. Give the BRTP a call at 824-2327 if you have questions.

Claire and Cassidy with Debbie were in Bethel to enjoy lots of the winter activities; both children went through the maze. Claire made it through in six minutes — congratulations!

Windy Valleys SC trail conditions can be obtained by calling Leon Dunn at 824-3335, Ed Powers at 739-9618 or Brad Wight at 824-2288. At this time the trails are not passable un-

This seems to be the year that we lose authors. "Catcher

In The Rye" author JD Salinger died this last week. I read that book a long time ago; guess I'll have to read it again.

I just finished reading "I, Alex

Cross" by James Patterson.

Mr. Patterson said on a TV commercial that if you didn't read this book, he would have to kill off Alex Cross. Well as far as I'm concerned, he can go ahead and do it. I give it a D+.

I'm so glad that the Andover Public Library has such a good selection of new books. I don't know what I'd do without it and I'm not the only one.

My mother, Marjorie Stinson, spent last weekend in Stoneham with my sister, Donna, and brother-in-law, David.

She had a great time playing cards, making pineapple upside down cake (ick), eating, and getting into all sorts of trouble that you will have to ask her about. I spent the weekend cleaning house, going out for Chinese food, cleaning house, tending to the "twins," reading, and cleaning house.

Can you tell by this column that I really don't have very much to write about? Oh well....

ing in the sunny spots on the rug.

The seasons here on the West Coast are ahead of those in Maine. Many green blades are poking up in the several flowerbeds; crocuses, daffodils, jonquils, and hyacinths. Birds are beginning to return, even two bluebirds were spotted nearby. As this is the rainy season, the farm pond in front of the house is overflowing to the irrigation pond below. This attracts a few small ducks nearly every day. Bill's many raised vegetable beds are still resting; they are fenced in to keep the deer out. The berry bushes are topped with fencing material to keep the birds away from the blueberries, marionberries, and raspberries. The hothouse is being readied for starting vegetables, for they grow most of their own food.

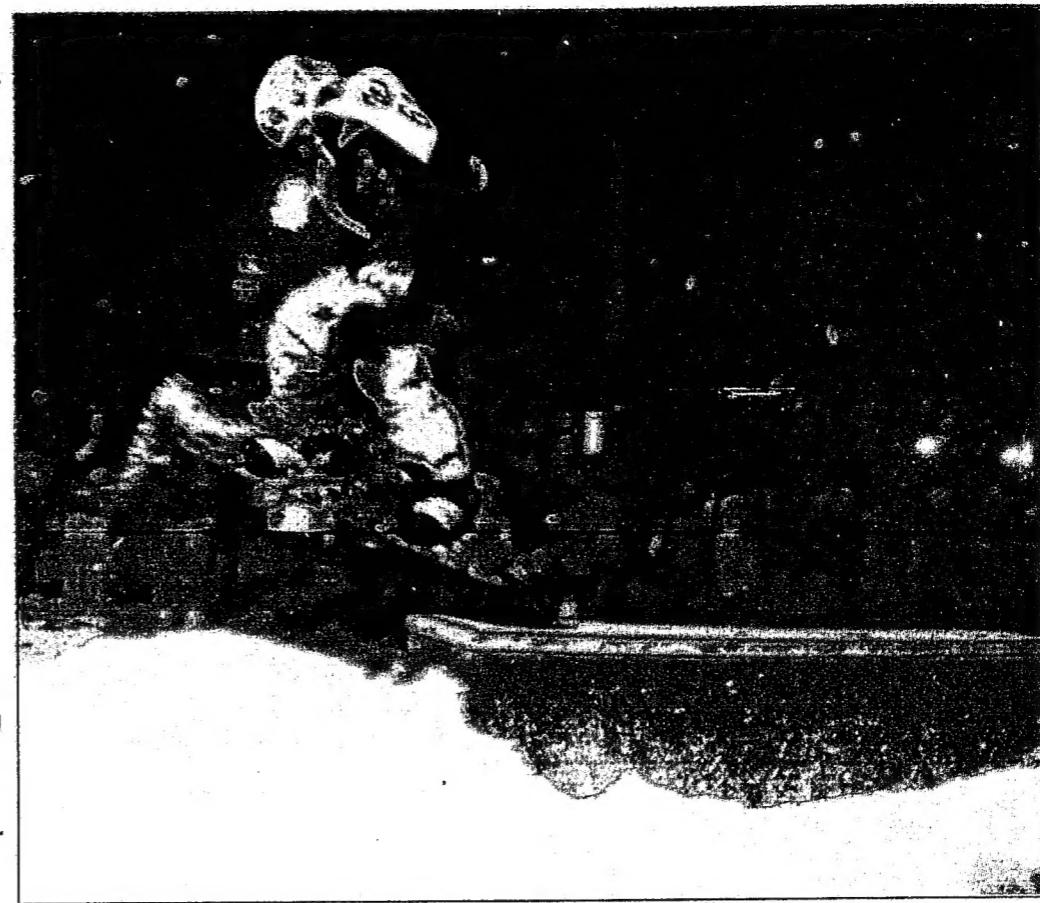

The grand opening to celebrate the new addition at the West Paris library will be held on Saturday, Feb. 6 at 2 p.m. (the snow date is Sunday, Feb. 7). There will be speakers, children's stories, music and refreshments. All are invited! I'm sad that I won't be in town to join in the festivities but am looking forward to using the enlarged space when I return home.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Sunday, Feb. 7 at 9 a.m., the Reverend Richard Beal will speak on "The Commonwealth of God," the third in the series of Forest Church's book "The Cathedral of the World: A Universalist Theology." Jim Burke is organist. A coffee hour follows the service.

On Friday, Feb. 26, a potluck supper will be held at the West Paris Universalist Church at 6 p.m. Join us for the sake of getting out and getting together. There will be a potluck supper on the fourth Friday of each month

RAIL JAMMIN'
On Thursday evening, several hundred spectators watched two dozen skiers and snowboarders compete in a free-style Rail Jam on Main Street in Bethel. Snow was trucked in earlier in the day for the 150-foot-long course, built near the Sudbury Inn. The competitors took turns riding rail elements down the course and performing twists and spins for the judges. A snow squall blew through during the event. The winners of the top three spots for snowboarders were Chris Lee of Brookline, Mass., Zack James of Portland and Greg Ken-naugh of Bethel. Among the skiers, it was Sam Parker of Bethel, Curtis Bolduc of Rumford and Richie Paradise of Cranmore, N.H. (Photos: A. Aloisio)

It is beginning to look like spring here on the West Coast. Before long I will return to the reality of snow and cold in Maine.

Mason

by Richard Grover

We had more excitement in Mason last weekend than we really wanted. It began Friday afternoon, when our electric power went off at about 4:30 p.m. While this was not unexpected, what with our awful wind and cold temperatures, the fact that the power did not soon come back on was. I started our small generator in order to run the furnace, refrigerator, water pump and provide an outlet for a light and to plug in an electric hotplate. Shortly, we received a phone call from Ina, telling us that the Applin's reported to her that a tree was across the Kings Highway a short distance down from Dan Grover's driveway.

Friday evenings Mona and I usually go to Pat's Pizza for supper, so I decided to drive down and cut the tree out of the road so we could drive to town. When I got to the top of the Mailbox Hill (the first hill on Kings Highway, where we used to have our mailboxes), sure enough, there was a good size fir tree extending all the way across the road, and severed electric wires lay on the ground. The next thing that caught my eye was smoke, and then small flames, rising from the snowbank at the base of the electric pole at the crest of the hill. Then I noticed several other small smoky places where sparks kept crackling, and I also noted a tangle of electric wires lying on the snowbank and scattered on the road surface most of the way down the hill. Every place where the wires crossed each other was sparking and smelled of burned insulation. There was even one sparking place at the top of the pole, where the circuit breaker for some reason failed to open, leaving the wires obviously hot. In one place the hot wires reached nearly all the way across the road, making it unsafe for any vehicles to drive by.

At the bottom of the hill, blocking the road, sat Marshall Fleet's pickup truck with lights and emergency flashers on to alert drivers to the dangers in the road. I phoned Lawrence Grover to see if he had a chain saw I could use to cut the tree. He did, so I walked over to borrow it, meeting him just getting into his pickup truck. We then drove over to the foot of the hill, walked up and cut the fir tree out of the road, except for a small section of the top. That we left in the middle of the road to alert any drivers coming down the road to the dangers ahead. At least, we figured that much would save CMP some time when they got around to our outage. We were stranded, with no way of driving to town until CMP came and repaired the damage.

I went home to a bowl of soup, warmed on a hotplate, for supper, a poor substitute for pizza! The power finally clicked back on at about 11:20 p.m. In the morning daylight we could see that the light pole had a considerably blackened area at its base where the wire tried to burn down the pole. The pole is still standing.

Sunday evening about 8 p.m. we received a phone call from daughter Katrina saying that granddaughter Carrie Phelps' husband, Neil, had just been in a bad car accident near the bottom of the Kings Highway, and that the Bethel ambulance had been toned out, which she just heard on her scanner. Neil had been on his way up to see

I took a large flashlight and drove down to see if there was anything I could do and to see how Neil was. I found a number of vehicles and people blocking the road just around a gentle curve just to our side of John Appin's driveway. Neil's car, only two or three weeks old, had been struck almost head on at the driver side front wheel and knocked clear up on top of the four-foot-high snowbank. EMTs David Hanscom and Robert Hopper were attending to Neil, who was suffering considerable intermittent pain.

The other car had come around the curve in the opposite direction and had drifted over into Neil's lane and sat against the snowbank next to Neil's car. I shined my light on the car tracks in the gravel, where the car had come around the corner, with no evidence of skid marks, as if the driver had been distracted or inattentive. The tracks were straight as an arrow from the opposite side of the road to where the car sat against the snowbank as if following its trajectory just before the end of the curve. The driver, whom I did not recognize, was unhurt.

When the ambulance arrived, they determined that Neil's injuries were serious enough that he should be life-flighted to Lewiston's CMMC Hospital.

Preliminary X-ray results show that Neil has no broken bones, but further evaluations will be conducted to determine whether other serious injuries might be in evidence. He has lots of bumps and bruises.

The Bethel Rotary Club recently donated $2,000 toward earthquake relief efforts in Haiti.

The club gave $1,000 to Hope Village in Haiti, and $1,000 to the Konbit Sante Haiti relief organization, based in Port-land.

Hope Village was founded and is operated by Father Marc Boisvert, a native of Lewiston.

The village provides a home and education for homeless children of Haiti.

The Rotary funds will go toward emergency high nutrition foods to feed children in the orphanage, and the increasing number of children coming to them from the earthquake.

For more information on Hope Village, go to www.freethekids.org. Father Boisvert has a blog on the website that he updates every day with pictures and text about how they are coping with earthquake victims, etc.

He is now looking to purchase an x-ray machine that could be hooked up to a computer and the x-rays read from anywhere in the world.

The Konbit Sante Haitian Health Partnership is a Maine-based volunteer partnership to save lives and improve healthcare in northern Haiti, according to the organization's website.

Rather than developing a second, parallel health system, Konbit Sante works with the Haitian Ministry of Health and with Haitian colleagues to build capacity within the public system for Haitians to care for Haitians.

From Western Mountains Senior College

Something new to warm up cold winter evenings takes place on Friday, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bethel Congregational Church — a WMSC Square Dance Evening! This special event is for members but non-members who plan to join are welcome.

Walter Brough will call the introductory square dancing and promises a sample of folk, round and contra dancing. The Virginia Reel is also on his list. Previous experience is not needed, just the will to participate in a "swing your partner, stomp your feet" evening, which may also include a little sing-along.

The fee for the evening is $5 for couples and $2.75 for singles. For planning purposes, please call Beth Brough at 875-2216 or e-mail her at bwbrough@megalink.net if you plan to attend.

Heart Month Program

"For Every Heart, There is a Story" will be presented by Dennise Whitley, Maine Heart Association, on Thursday, Feb. 25, from 4:30 to 6 p.m. at the Bethel Congregational Church. Although largely preventable, heart disease remains the number one killer of women in the U.S. Ms. Whitley will discuss how women can connect with each other, educate and empower themselves and make choices to reduce their personal risk.

This program, planned by the To Your Health committee of WMSC, is offered in response to numerous requests for more information about women and heart disease.

The program is open to the public free of charge. Refreshments available. FMI call Rosalind Tiffet at 824-2053.

In Memory of:

The office, established in 2008 with the support of the Betterment Fund and a $15,000 grant from the Davis Family Foundation, was part of the strategic planning process of the society. Since that time a director of development, James Dock, has been added to the staff, and much progress made in the fundraising capabilities of the organization.

"The support from the Betterment Fund has been an important component in moving ahead in this direction," Bennett observed in making the announcement, "and it puts us on the road to advance the society forward in significant ways. We are indeed grateful for this gift and are anxious to continue working with the trustees of the Betterment Fund over the next year to ensure the greatest possible success," he added.

The Betterment Fund was created for charitable purposes by the will of the late William Bingham, 2nd.

From Maine Handicapped Skiing

This weekend, Maine Handicapped Skiing is conducting its fifth annual Veterans/No Boundaries program for military veterans and active duty personnel with physical disabilities. Twenty-five participants are expected at this year's event February 4 through 8, 2010 at Sunday River. The veterans and their guests will enjoy a long weekend of alpine and Nordic skiing, snowshoeing and snowmobiling. This year's program also includes an alpine racing component, during which the MHS adaptive alpine race team will mentor veterans during on-mountain drills and fun races. All lessons, equipment, meals and other entertainment free of charge to the veterans and their guests.

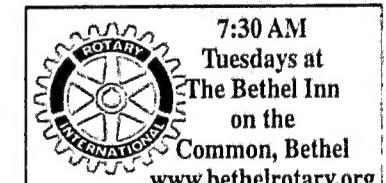

As with all MHS programs, Veterans/No Boundaries is free to all participants. Since the program was founded in 2004, this has been made possible through the generosity of various donors and sponsors, as well as by the efforts of dozens of volunteer instructors, guides and medical attendants. Sunday River has provided lift tickets, discounted lodging and a dinner at the North Peak Lodge for this year's program. The Sunday River Cross Country Center at Wilderness House has also donated lodging, trail passes and program support. Numerous other local businesses, clubs and individuals have contributed meals, lodging discounts, snowmobiling and evening entertainment for this year's program. Veterans/No Boundaries receives additional financial support from Disabled Sports USA, the Wounded Warriors Project and US Paralympics.

ROBERT B. SWAIN

Robert Bennett Swain, 90, East Andover, Maine, World War II pilot and owner of R. J. Swain Dowel Mill, died Saturday, Jan. 30, 2010, at the Hospice House in Auburn, Maine, days short of his 90th birthday.

Robert was born on Feb. 4, 1920, in Rumford, Maine, to Robert John and Lucie Morse Swain. When Robert was two years old, his family moved "down the hill," as he used to say, from Horseshoe Valley to Cold Spring Farm in East Andover where he lived the rest of his life.

Robert attended Andover High School for four years and took a fifth year at Gould Academy in Bethel, graduating in 1937. While at Gould, he participated in baseball, track, and basketball. He had fond memories of going to dances and other events with his friends. He graduated from Bryant College in Providence, R.I., in 1939 with a BS degree in Business Administration. He returned to East Andover to work for his father at R. J. Swain Dowel Mill.

It was also in 1939 that Robert was taught to fly by the late Carmen Onofrio. He purchased his first plane, a Stinson, in 1940 for $900, and owned several planes throughout his life. He always took delight in talking about the flights he had made.

Robert left East Andover in 1942 after enlisting in the US Army Air Corps. His preflight training was in Montgomery, Ala., then it was on to Americus, Ga., for primary training in a Stearman PT-17. After basic training in a BT-13 in Greenville, Miss., Robert went to Arkansas for twin engine advanced training in the AT-9 and AT-10. It was in Blytheville, Ark., where he received his wings and was commissioned a second lieutenant.

After training in Austin, Texas, on the C-47 transport plane, he went to Ft. Wayne, Ind., for a brief stint. From there he went to Fort Benning, Ga., where he received additional training in the skills that would serve him well in the months to come, including dropping paratroopers and towing gliders. Robert received his overseas orders and took the train back to Ft. Wayne, where he picked up a brand new C-47 and left for England.

The trip began in mid-December. With his crew, they followed the southern route to Brazil; then across the Atlantic to Ascension Island, a necessary mid-point refueling stop. They spent Christmas in Africa and arrived in England in time to celebrate New Year's Eve.

In England, Lieutenant Swain joined the 78th Troop Carrier Squadron of the 435th Troop Carrier Group at Welford Park. He participated in the Normandy Invasion on D-Day, the air attack on Holland, and the Battle of the Bulge.

In February of 1945, the squadron was transferred to France near Paris. He participated in the airborne assault across the Rhine, simultaneously towing two loaded gliders to the east bank of the Rhine. He flew resupply missions to Germany in support of ground forces, which included General Patton's troops. Wounded soldiers were evacuated on the return trip to France.

Robert recalled being on leave in Paris when an important announcement came through the wires, and he found himself celebrating VE Day in May 1945 with throngs of jubilant people around the Arc de Triomphe.

After leaving France, Robert returned to Ft. Wayne, and then to East Andover where on July 25, 1945, he married the former Violet Peters, whom he had met when she moved to East Andover in 1938 to teach school. The East Andover School was located next door to the Swain home, and Violet walked by twice a day on her way to and from school. Robert decided that he should get to know "the good-looking school teacher."

Robert returned once again to Fort Wayne, which served as the staging area for troops and supplies heading overseas. Violet drove to Indiana and they rented rooms in a private home for $4 a week.

Robert was expecting to go to Japan, but the war ended before his orders came through. He was discharged in December 1945, and returned to East Andover, picking up where he had left off prior to entering the service, working at his father's dowel mill. He eventually became owner of the mill, operating it until his retirement in 1986.

After retirement, Robert, a self-taught engineer of sorts, could be found in his workshop making improvements on his various pieces of equipment and machinery.

Robert valued a hard, honest day's work; the peacefulness and bounty of nature; the freedom and tranquility of flying; and the friendly competitiveness of sports. He and Violet raised three sons, passing these values on to them; and to their grandchildren as well.

Robert loved telling stories of his growing up in East Andover, his service during the war, and the adventures that the family had when they went on their traditional fishing trips. He also enjoyed watching the Red Sox play, working out on his Bow Flex, and driving his Kubota tractor. Most recently, he had begun exploring the wonders of the Web.

He and Violet attended 15 reunions of his WW II squadron, including the final one in 2006, in San Antonio, Texas. They kept in touch with many of the squadron members and their families.

Robert was active in state and local organizations. He belonged to Mundt-Allen Post #81 of the American Legion in Bethel. He served locally as a State of Maine Fire Warden and as treasurer of the Andover Volunteer Fire Department. He was a charter member of the Andover Lions Club as well as the Kiwanis Club of Greater Rumford. He served as a trustee of the First Congregational Church of Andover. He was a member of SCORE, as well as an honorary member of the Andover Historical Society. He was a member of the Andover Alumni Association and received, with Violet, the Alumni of the Year Award in 2006. He supported a variety of community events and organizations.

In June 1944, newly-promoted First Lieutenant Swain earned the Air Medal, "given in recognition of meritorious service while participating in aerial flights," for his participation on D-Day. Lt. Swain also received three Air Medals in the form of Oak Leaf Clusters for flying additional combat missions. He received, with all members of the 435th Troop Carrier Group, the Distinguished Unit Citation for its role in the Normandy Invasion, an honor which denotes the same degree of heroism as an individual's Distinguished Service Cross. In October 2005, at a Troop Carrier Group Reunion in Washington, D.C., he and fellow pilots received the French Jubilee of Liberty Medal from the French Consul-General for participating on D-Day.

Mr. Swain was predeceased in 2006 by Violet, his devoted and caring wife of 61 years. He is survived by their three sons: Robert J. II, and wife Kay of Lexington, Ky.; Rodney L. of Vermont; and Ross B., and fiance Christine Greenleaf of Roxbury Pond. He is also survived by grandsons Gregory and Matthew Swain; granddaughters Hannah Noble and husband Nathan, Courtney, Lucie, and Jennifer Swain; great grandchildren Hope, Nathaniel, and Benjamin Noble; his sister, Mrs. Amelia Entin and her family; and extended family, Kim Swain and Leigh Breidenbach.

A heartfelt thanks are given to the Hospice House staff and volunteers for their care, kindness and respect during Robert's stay.

Funeral services with Military Honors will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 6, 2010 at the Andover Congregational Church, Andover, Maine with The Rev. Jane Rich officiating. Calling hours will be from 1 to 3 and 6 to 8 p.m. Friday at the Meader & Son Funeral Home, 3 Franklin Street, Rumford, Maine 04276. Those who desire, please contribute to the Andover Fire and Rescue, PO Box 402, Andover, ME 04216 or to the Hospice House 236 Stetson Road, Auburn, ME 04210.

Online signing of the register book, condolences and memories, and video tribute may be shared at www.meaderandson.com.
